Legislative Update

By: Beth Ede

Capitol Hill Update

HR Issues Front and Center in President Obama's Final State of the Union Address

In his final State of the Union address, specific to HR, the President's remarks advocated in advancing key workplace initiatives including reforming the immigration system, requiring equal pay for equal work, mandating paid leave, raising the minimum wage, promoting retirement security and providing affordable health care coverage for all Americans. One issue the President failed to mention was his proposal to drastically increase the salary threshold under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) overtime regulations.

During the hour-long speech in the House chamber, the President called for strengthening health care and retirement benefits, along with entitlement programs such as Social Security and Medicare. Additionally, the President emphasized the importance of education and training for Americans so that they can attain "good-paying jobs" and cited recent education reforms designed to boost the number of graduates in fields like engineering.

In concluding his remarks, the President noted that he's well aware that it's an election season and therefore expectations for what is achievable on Capitol Hill this year are low. He urged Congress to work together in 2016 on some bipartisan priorities to surprise cynics.

In the meantime, while legislative expectations on workplace issues are low in 2016, we can certainly expect to see more regulatory action (in addition to the issuance of a final rule likely this summer amending the FLSA's overtime requirements) as the President looks to solidify his legacy during his final 11 months in office.

Health Care Reform Update

IRS Extends Due Dates for ACA Information Reporting

On December 28, 2015, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) issued Notice 2016-4 extending the due dates for filing and furnishing forms under Section 6055 and Section 6056.

The due date for furnishing forms to individuals has been extended from February 1, 2016, to March 31, 2016. The due date for filing forms with the IRS has been extended from February 29, 2016, to May 31, 2016 – or from March 31, 2016, to June 30, 2016, if filing electronically.

Even with the extensions, the IRS encourages employers and other coverage providers to furnish statements and file information returns as soon as they are ready.

“Play or Pay” Affordability Percentage Adjusted

On December 18, 2015, the IRS issued Notice 2015-87 providing further guidance on the application of group health plan market reform provisions of the Affordable Care Act to employer-provided health coverage. Through the notice, the IRS adjusted the safe harbor percentage that ALEs can use to calculate the affordability of the health plan offered to a full time employee.

For all groups, regardless of size, the adjusted percentages can be used to determine affordability for completion of the Notice of Exchange. Employers with group health plans can use 9.56% for coverage offered in 2015 and 9.66% for coverage offered in 2016.

Department of Labor Update

DOL Focus on Joint Employment

On January 20, 2016, the Department of Labor’s Wage & Hour Division issued an Administrator’s Interpretation (AI) establishing new standards for determining joint employment under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act (MSPA). The AI identifies common scenarios in which two or more employers jointly employ an employee and are thus jointly liable for compliance.

The new guidance make clear that DOL intends to interpret broadly who is a “joint employer” for the purposed of compliance with the FLA and MSPA. The AI specifically target the construction, ag, janitorial, warehouse and logistics, staffing and hospitality industries and include examples of joint employment from the health care, restaurant, and security industries.

You are encouraged to review the supporting documents on the DOL website.
